Helping over the holidays

by Alvin Jones
R&S Staff Writer

With the holiday season upon us causing the typical rush to the finish with all of our plans it is easy to forget about those less fortunate than us. We are going to be taking a look at ways that we can either help financially by donating physical items or by donating our time as volunteers.

The Forgotten Ministries Mercy House is a seasonal homeless shelter operating during hottest and coldest months of the year July, August, November, December, January, and February.

They operate a shelter designed to show people they are worth more than basic necessities they give each guest a Bible study class along with a hot meal the chance to shower and sleep in clean clothes provided while your clothes are laundered. While this is a great service it takes ten people per day to operate this shelter so if you are interested in offering your time you can sign up at <https://www.forgottenministries.com/mercy-house> under volunteer.

As with every holiday season if your too busy but want to help out they can always use donations like laundry soap, cleaning supplies, undergarments and socks, non-perishable pantry food, and a complete list can be found on their website at the above link.

Thank you for helping however you can this holiday season.

Jets' men lose to NOC Tonkawa 75-63

ENID, Oklahoma – Lynn Counter scored 24 points but it wasn't enough as NOC Enid fell to NOC Tonkawa 75-63 in the Mabee Center.

The Jets (3-7) fell to 0-3 in conference while the Mavs (8-3) improved to 3-0.

Jlynn Counter led the Jets with 24 while Quentin Harvey added 14 and Dakoda Joachim 10. Harvey had 11 rebounds while Counter added 10 rebounds and three assists.

"NOC Bedlam games are always fun with a great atmosphere and energy, I thought both teams competed hard," said coach Chris Gerber. "I thought we showed a lot of toughness and we matured a little bit. The main thing we have to build on is keeping that toughness consist and taking the easy points when we can. We have four more games before we get a break, need to build on last night and finish the semester strong."

The Jets took a 14-13 midway in the first half but NOC Tonkawa went on a run to take a 39-27 lead at half.

NOC Tonkawa then went on a 9-2 run early in the second half building a 48-29 lead but the Jets battled back with a 12-2 run of their own to get back in the game.

The Jets made one final push cutting the lead to 56-49 with 9:39 left but the Mavs answered with a 15-5 run building the lead to 71-54.

Lady Jets prepare for the 2021 season

by Hayden Fuller
R&S Staff Writer

Kelli Jennings is in her second year as the coach of the women's basketball team.

So far, the Lady Jets are 2-5 on the year, picking up a big home win over NOC Tonkawa 86-62 Monday night.

With having one year under her belt, she was able to get a better idea of what the conference was like and how things work in the college game; this is important since before, she was a high school coach, and things can be different when moving up a level of competition. With the new understanding and getting to know the girls on her team, they were busy this offseason.

During the off-season, they focused on building chemistry on the floor and getting an idea of what everyone else wanted to do offensively. The team also spent time in the weight room getting stronger so they could make more athletic plays.

The big thing they are working on now is limiting turnovers on offensive plays and finishing at the rim. Everyone is also very selfless with the ball and brings a lot to the table, which is an excellent trait in basketball.

They have some challenging games at the beginning of the year, but they hope to stay healthy and use those games to help prepare for their conference.
