

Pickens Learning Commons Grand Opening

NOC Tonkawa celebrated the Grand Opening of the Pickens Learning Commons Wednesday afternoon. The Tonkawa Chamber of Commerce held a ribbon cutting ceremony to honor the event. Included in the ribbon cutting were the NOC Board of Regents, Tonkawa Chamber of Commerce Directors, current and former NOC administrators, Hugh Pickens and artist Yatika Starr Fields. (More photos on Page 10)

Chikaskia Literary Festival in Enid Oct. 20-21

NOC Enid is hosting the 9th Annual Chikaskia Literary Festival Oct. 20-21.

The festival will be held in the Marshall Building Bivins Chapel.

Featured readers are Alan Berecka of Corpus Christi, Texas, and Joey Brown of Carl Junction, Missouri.

Twenty-two writers of poetry, fiction, and non-fiction from Oklahoma, Missouri, and Texas will share their work.

Alan Berecka is the author of five books of poetry, the latest A Living is Not a Life: A Working Title (2021, Black Spruce Press) was a finalist in the Hoffer Awards. His poetry has appeared in such journals and web sites as The Christian Century, The American Literary Review, The Texas Review, The Texas Poetry Assignment and The Main Street Rag. He was recently invited by the Lithuanian Writers Union to take part in their international spring poetry festival which took place in May 2022. This was the second time Berecka has been invited to read in the birthplace of two of his grandparents. He has earned his living for many years as librarian at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi. He looks forward to his retirement which will begin in January 2023. He and his wife Alice reside in Sinton, Texas where they raised their now two adult children.

Joey Brown is a poet and a fiction writer. She has authored two poetry collections: The Feral Love Poems (Hungry Buzzard Press) and Oklahomaography (Mongrel Empire Press). Her poems and prose have appeared in The Red Earth Review, Plainsong, Concho River Review, The Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas, Tulsa Review, Oklahoma Review, The San Pedro River Review, and other journals. She has recently completed two new manuscripts—a book length narrative poem set in early-80s oil bust Oklahoma and a mystery novel—for which she is seeking publishers. She frequently performs her poetry at festivals and writing conferences around the Midwest and sometimes beyond. Joey now lives in southwest Missouri with her husband, the novelist Michael Howarth, and spends her free Lovers of the Language Arts are welcome to come and enjoy works by regional award-winning poets and fiction writers.

The event is free for faculty, staff, students and the general public.

NOC Distinguished Alum nominations due Nov. 1

Northern Oklahoma College is seeking nominations for the 2023 NOC Distinguished Alumni Award.

Nominations are due Nov. 1, according to Kayla Wooderson, alumni relations coordinator.

Selected honorees will be inducted into the NOC Hall of Fame at the Alumni and Friends Reunion to be held in the Renfro Center, April 1, 2023. This is the 21st year for the NOC Hall of Fame event.

The NOC Roustabouts will perform at the event before their annual benefit show at the Kinzer Performing Arts Center.

The Distinguished Alumni Award, has been established to recognize the achievements of former students whose personal lives, professional achievements and community service exemplify the objectives of NOC. This award is the highest honor that Northern bestows upon an outstanding alumnus/a. To view the past honorees, visit the website at <https://www.noc.edu/development/alumni/distinguished-alumni-hall-of-fame/award-recipients/>.

Contact Wooderson at 580.628.6473, kayla.wooderson@noc.edu or visit the NOC website at www.noc.edu/alumni.

Northern Oklahoma College had four students attend the 2022 Women in Science Conference at the Oklahoma Science Museum on Oct. 4 Abbigayle Vargas (Enel Booth), Raven Bruce (NOC booth), Brenna Leonard and Emmaline Dethloff (KidWind Booth). The students provided hands on demonstrations of the electric grid and wind turbine power generation to over 1,600 middle school and high school students from around the state. Over 200 vendors and volunteers participated in the conference. (photos by the 2022 OK NSF EPSCoR Women in Science Conference).

The NOC Tonkawa Roustabouts performed at the Full Moon Concert in Tonkawa on Sunday, October 9. Performing with the Roustabouts were a few NOC and Roustabout Alums. It was a beautiful evening for a wonderful concert. The alums included Cassidy Edsall '22, Taryn Pruett '19 and Carli Pendleton '22 singing with her sister Kira.

Celebrating Hispanic Heritage Month

This week we end our coverage of Hispanic Heritage Month. The 30-day nationally observed period (September – 15 October) acknowledges the contributions made to this country by the Latino community. In celebration, here are four of the greatest Hispanic athletes and scientists of all time. To read about the Top 20 Hispanic American Athletes and Scientists of all time, go to the following link: The 20 greatest Hispanic athletes of all time | Yardbarker (thefamouspeople.com)

For more information on Hispanic American scientists go to: Notable Hispanic Scientists

Franklin Chang-Díaz

Franklin Chang-Díaz, the American Physicist worked on controlled fusion and fusion reactor design. He specialized in Applied Plasma Physics from Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and received the doctorate degree from the same university. He became an astronaut in 1981 and later worked at NASA, as well.

Carmelo Anthony

Anthony, who's father is Puerto Rican, is the greatest Latino basketball player of all time. He's a 10-time NBA All-Star, has four Olympic medals (three gold and one bronze), and a NCAA national championship under his belt (he single-handedly made Syracuse champs in 2003). No one even comes close.

Roberto Clemente

Arguably the greatest beisbolero (baseball player) to ever don the Pittsburgh Pirates uniform, #21 was a 15-time All-star who led his team to two World series (1960 and 1971). He's also one of 31 players to get 3,000 hits. One of the first Latinos enshrined at Cooperstown, Clemente tragically died in a 1972 plane crash that was delivering aid to the victims of an earthquake in Nicaragua.

Ellen Ochoa

Ellen Ochoa, the astronaut and 1st Hispanic woman to go to space pursued her research on information processing from Sandia National Laboratories and NASA Ames Research Center. She is also a co-inventor on patents in optics, object recognition and image processing.

Other Hispanic scientists including Mario J. Molina, who stated that CFC'S are harmless and César Milstein, one of the fathers of modern medicine to develop the first monoclonal antibodies in 1975 are Hispanic scientists. Baruj Benacerraf, Jacinto Convit, Luis Alvarez are a few Hispanic scientists who also made their contributions to the world.

Laurie Hernandez

Laurie Hernandez won a gold medal as part of the U.S. women's gymnastic's team at the 2016 Rio Olympics and a silver medal at the individual balance beam event. Not only that, Hernandez, who's of Puerto Rican descent, also won the 23rd season of "Dancing with the Stars." Not bad for a 17-year-old.

Three high school students received $400 Tuition Waivers at the Tonkawa Northern Encounter last week at the Renfro Center. Art exhibit continues at the KPAC 24 Works on Paper, Oklahoma's only traveling art exhibit that features artists who live and work in the state, will be on view from Sept. 26 – Nov. 4 in the Eleanor Hays Art Gallery at Northern Oklahoma College in Tonkawa.

Artists chosen for the curated exhibit differ in age, background and style and what unifies them is that they all make work on paper - in media such as printmaking, drawing, painting and photography.

The guest curator for 24 Works on Paper was Michael R. Grauer, Curator of Cowboy Collections and Western Art at the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum. The biennial exhibition is managed by the Oklahoma Visual Arts Coalition, a statewide nonprofit whose mission is to grow and develop Oklahoma's visual arts community through education, promotion, connection and funding.

Classroom curriculum guides and videos are made available for free to arts educators, homeschool groups, and other interested parties. Contact keri@ovac-ok.org for more information.
