2021-2022 FactBook

Introduction

The Northern Oklahoma College Fact Book is a collection of institutional data put together to provide information to those who make decisions, write grants, need institutional data for accreditation purposes, and to the general public interested in the institution. The Fact Book is intended to be a snapshot of the collective institution, including data from all three of Northern's locations with data and information updated in July of the year reported. The Fact Book, now in its tenth year, is an annual publication that is intended to grow into a longitudinal study of the institution which gives the reader a history of Northern in previous years.

The data presented in the Fact Book was obtained either from certified data sources, such as IPEDs, or from campus databases. All years, unless otherwise indicated, follow the IPEDS reporting schedule of summer, fall, and spring for that academic year. Thus any year containing data for AY – 2021 includes summer 2021, fall of 2021 and spring of 2022. If the data is collected from a source other than those previously indicated, the source will be reported with the data. Realizing there may be gaps in information, it is requested that Fact Book readers provide feedback so that the future publications may include that information. If any questions arise, please contact the Office of Institutional Research.

About NOC

History of NOC

Through the efforts of the Honorable James H. Wilkin, on March 1, 1901, the Oklahoma Territorial Legislature passed an act appropriating money to establish University Preparatory School at Tonkawa. Wilkin also obtained an endowment of land for the school. Consequently, Central Hall was constructed, a faculty employed, and other essentials of an educational institution provided. In September 1902, the doors of the new school swung open to prospective students. Two hundred and twenty-seven young men and women enrolled; thus opened the colorful history of one of Oklahoma's most important and picturesque educational institutions.

As the curriculum expanded and the enrollment increased, new equipment and other facilities became necessary. An act of Congress dated June 2, 1906, provided for the donation to the school of a section of land adjoining the city of Tonkawa. Proceeds from the sale of this land were to be used to provide additional buildings. A similar act of 1909 granted another tract of land for the same purpose. Harold Hall and Foster-Piper Fieldhouse were erected and paid for with the funds secured from the sale of these lands.

The college department was established in 1921, and the institution became a fully-accredited junior college. By an act of legislature in 1941, the name was changed to Northern Oklahoma Junior College. Further changes were made by the state legislature in 1965 with the passage of the Higher Education Code. This new statement of law changed the institution's official name to Northern Oklahoma College. Its three-man Board of Regents was expanded to five and given added authority and freedom in conducting institutional affairs.

In June 1999, Northern purchased the grounds and buildings of the Phillips University campus in Enid. Phillips University, a private institution established in 1907 by the Disciples of Christ, had closed its doors in August 1998. The purchase of the campus allowed Northern to expand its services to its Enid students and to provide for growth of its academic, student and community programs.

In 2001, Northern Oklahoma College celebrated the centennial anniversary of its founding, and, with the beginning of the fall 2002 semester, entered its second hundred years of providing quality education to students. The history of the institution is unique in the annals of higher education.

In August 2003, Northern joined in a partnership with Oklahoma State University to expand educational opportunities for college bound students in Oklahoma. The partnership allowed Northern to expand its services to its Stillwater students.

Tonkawa

The Tonkawa campus, established in 1901, serves as the administrative center for Northern. All program oversight in academic, financial, student service, personnel, development, physical plant, and information technology is housed in Tonkawa. Over 1,500 students attend class on site, by ITV, or via online. Offering over 20 distinct degree paths with over 40 degree options and an array of courses, Northern distinguishes itself as a leading community college in Oklahoma.

Enid

The Enid site was established in 1999 in conjunction with the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education (OSRHE) and the City of Enid. This site has grown in offering multiple two-year liberal arts degree programs to some 800 students each semester. The Enid site continues to expand its faculty, curriculum, and numerous clubs and activities.

Stillwater

The Stillwater site, established in 2003, serves multiple missions to area students. Primarily a Gateway Program, the Stillwater site serves students who would otherwise not be admitted to Oklahoma State University. The site, however, also admits students seeking general education courses that transfer to other comprehensive colleges and universities. Northern Stillwater admits approximately 300 new students each fall and spring semester, serving some 1,700 students. March 2017, ground was broken for a New Classroom Building completed in August 2018.

NOC Carnegie Classification

Associate's College with High Transfer-High Traditional - Disciplinary focus is on transfer degrees with fewer than 30% of degrees/certificates in career & technical programs with a dominant student type of traditional students (recent high school graduates).

NASNTI Title III Grant

NASNTI: 2016 – 2021

Northern Oklahoma College was awarded a United States Department of Education Title III NASNTI grant in 2016 for $1,749,975 to develop programs and services to support Native American and low-income student needs. The NASNTI project titled “Merging Traditions and Technology: Engaging Native American and Low Income Students to Complete College” has three initiatives: expanding access to high-demand, high-quality courses; developing and improving online services; and developing support for Native American Student success. Unfortunately the Covid-19 pandemic undercut the Native American enrollment gains that NOC was making through its project initiatives in the first few years of the project. Despite the pandemic setbacks and struggles, milestones were achieved in the final Year 5 of the NASNTI project.

To respond to students needs for flexible access to high-demand, high-quality courses, the project has revised a total of 3 online courses for the reporting period and 29 overall since the project's inception. The success rate for these courses was 67% in 2015. The success rate in these same, but revised courses has increased to 69%. This increase is significant given all of the shifts for online learning over the life of the project due to the pandemic. NOC purchased the Jenzabar One (J1) Enterprise Response Planning and Student Information System to improve online services. This was a lengthy migration that was exasperated by delays created by Covid-19. J1 went live in late 2020, with web-based student support modules, including registration, transfer, and degree mapping piloted in 2021. In project years 3-5, 821 academically high-risk Native American students participated in the mentor program. To support success for the students, mentors reached out to their mentees with specific information that was shared via the NOC/NASNTI mentor site and monthly newsletters sent by the Native American Student Success Specialist. Language resources were obtained by regional tribal partners and will be housed within the Cultural Engagement Center on the Tonkawa campus. Notably, the Tonkawa Tribe collaborated with NASNTI staff to create an informational video on the customs for preparing a funeral meal and NOC hosted a virtual presentation of “Choctaw Nation Pottery Revitalization with Dr. Ian Thompson for professional development and student engagement.

NASNTI: 2021 - 2026

Northern Oklahoma College was once again awarded a five-year United States Department of Education Title III NASNTI grant in 2021 for $2,248,867 to develop programs and services to support Native American and low-income student needs. The NASNTI project titled “Connecting Students to Promising Pathways” has three initiatives: develop new STEM academic programs and supporting course options; strengthen student services; and build capacity to support remote learners with disabilities.

The five-year detailed project plans to develop a new Renewable Energy option under the Associate of Applied Science in Electronics Technology and Associate of Science in Precision Agriculture as well as courses in Data Analytics that support both new programs. To further support program instruction, a classroom/laboratory and greenhouse classroom will be created in the P-Tech Building. To strengthen student services, NOC will develop a new student needs assessment and update its student support system procedures to ensure early identification and response to student needs. NOC will also strengthen its career and transfer services by developing career/transfer webpages customized for NOC’s programs/majors. Additionally, dedicated space will be created for career/transfer coaching virtual reality career exploration, and access to computers with career/transfer resources. Lastly, NOC plans to build capacity to support remote learners with disabilities by training 90 faculty across eight academic departments on Universal Design for Learning. Furthermore, NOC will also update 20 key program courses to better support remote learners with disabilities using new assistive technology and contractual services.

High-Impact Strategies

NOC participates in Oklahoma and national initiatives in alignment with Complete College America goals for student retention and completion of degrees, including the following:

- Offering co-requisite models in English composition and math that allow students to begin earning college credit with the support of concurrent remedial support sections.
- Designing degree sheets with math courses aligned with the program of study.
- Developing 1+3 transfer guides specifically for the NOC/OSU Gateway program to increase transfer student success for NOC Stillwater students.
- Providing a semester-by-semester recommended course sequence for all degrees.
- Tracking program-specific learning outcomes for all degrees and for general education competencies.
- Offering students applied learning experiences through internships and job shadowing.
- Evaluating key performance indicators to determine which courses and programs have the highest success rates.
- Utilizing an Early Alert System to identify students who are struggling and help them access needed resources.
- Creating articulation agreements with partner institutions for 2 + 2 degree plans and smoother transfer.
- Working with partner institutions to aid students who transfer without a credential in earning that degree through reverse transfer.
