Teaching Artists exhibit opens, reception Saturday at 3 p.m.

“Teaching Artists Exhibition,” featuring the work of twelve area educators who also make art is currently on view in Eleanor Hays Art Gallery on the Northern Oklahoma College Tonkawa campus, according to gallery director Audrey Schmitz.

A reception with the artists is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 4 from 3 p.m. – 4 p.m. and it is open to all.

Schmitz curated the exhibition with a vision of recognizing and celebrating the quality and diverse styles of art being produced by educators. A “teaching artist” is defined as a practicing professional artist who has a dual career as an educator and who may work in many settings, from schools and art centers to hospitals and online venues.

Participating artists are Brandon Beichler, Charla Enns and Steven Goodwin of Enid; Betty Hancock, Cushing; Ashley Heitschmidt, Blackwell; Jena G. Kodesh, Red Rock; Alena Jennings, Mindy LittleCook and Theresa Sacket of Ponca City; Carol Morgan and Leah Pappan of Newkirk; Jason McNaughton, Norman.

Over 65 works of art include oil, watercolor and acrylic painting, digital imagery and photography, monoprints, pastels, mixed-media sculpture, ceramics and jewelry. Styles range from realistic subject matters to fantasy and expressive abstract works. All of the artists demonstrate technical mastery and experimentation with media and reveal a shared celebration of color. Viewers will find the diverse works strategically grouped to create visual experiences capitalizing on related properties of color, line, shape and composition. The majority of the art is available for purchase.

“Teaching Artist Exhibition” remains in the gallery through Feb. 28. The gallery, located in the Kinzer Performing Arts Center, is open 1 to “Hey, Foxy Lady” Acrylic on canvas by Theresa Sacket who teaches 2nd grade at Woodlands Elementary, Ponca City.

5 p.m. Monday through Friday and during evening and weekend events in the KPAC Auditorium. Admission is free. Contact gallery director Audrey Schmitz at 580-628-6670 or audrey.schmitz@noc.edu for more information.

Spring into the new semester at NOC

by Sharon Park

The Maverick Staff Writer

After a long, winter break away, students might be looking for ways to get back into the rhythm here at Northern.

Why not spring into the new semester with some of the numerous activities going on? For those of you fond of live music, this semester is packed with musical performances to enjoy.

The Oak Ridge Boys are set to appear on Feb 16. Northern is this country music hall of fame bands next stop on their 2023 Front Porch Singin' Tour.

The theatre department will finish the music theme with their performance of Sweeny Todd. The musical will take place March 2-4 at 7:30 p.m. and March 5 at 2 p.m. in the KPAC. This free event is a must see.

For students prefer bleachers and concession stand popcorn, do not fret, the NOC women's basketball and the baseball departments are geared up for some knock-out home games.

Be sure to not miss the Mav Basketball Homecoming Feb 2. The Mavs and Lady Mavs Basketball team has four home games left of their season on Feb 2, 9, 13, 20 at 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

As for the Maverick Baseball team, they take the field here Feb 4 for their home opener. Maverick Softball opens their home season Feb. 16 against Mid-America JV at 1 p.m.

So, whether it is music or sports there are plenty of ways to venture out on the campus and show some school spirit.

International students adjust to American life

by Leon Finn Schmitter

The Maverick Staff Writer

Northern Oklahoma College is not only a college with regular students. It is a colorful mix from people all over the world, which is beautiful, like myself!

My name is Leon Finn Schmitter, I'm 21 years old, part of the Soccer program and from Switzerland, which is a country located in Europe. My accent of course, is extremely magnific, so people in a regular basis, ask me where I am from.

After answering this specific question, I always get a smile back, with an answer like, "Oh, Sweden is beautiful!" It got so bad that I actually questioned myself, if I am from Sweden. Unsure why, but for almost all Americans, Switzerland and Sweden are the same country.

Not to forget the time zone change, which meant dozens of sleepless nights until my body got used to the American time zone, since Switzerland is seven hours ahead.

Although, one of the most drastic changes for my teammates and myself is the food.

Don't get me wrong, I absolutely love fast food a fancy drink or a good Dessert. But sometimes it just feels like a little too much. I asked one of my best friends Lewis Albert, teammate and great soccer player from our soccer program, what does he miss the most about food from Europe? Lewis Albert said "Well, in England where I am from, the food is not near perfection than I would wish for but two things I miss the most. A good cup of tea and a normal crusty bread. I am just not a big fan of toast. I would also like to see more fresh vegetables."

What I have to say very clearly, is that all people in this small community are extremely friendly and courteous. Everybody helps everyone, with all means available.

In Switzerland, people are way more reserved. I am really happy about the environment and thankful to all people which helped me to feel so welcome.

Mavs Baseball opens Saturday

The NOC Mavs Baseball Team opens the season this weekend hosting a four-game series against Des Moines Area Community College.

First pitch is noon Saturday and Sunday.

Coach Ryan Bay enters his ninth season at the Maverick helm.

“There’s a lot to like about this team,” Bay said. “We’ve got good balance offensively with several quality hitters from both sides of the plate and some guys with some pop that will hit for power as well as some speed guys that can set a table for us.”

“Our pitching staff continues to improve each week. If we can stay healthy on the mound we’ll be very competitive in Region 2.”

What does Bay see as his team’s strengths in 2023.

“We’re pretty balanced at the plate and on the mound in terms of lefty/righty matchups. That should give us an advantage matching up with how teams try to line up with us this spring,” he said. This will be one of the better hitting teams we’ve had in the past 2-3 years.”

As with any team, health is a key concern.

“We have to stay healthy, that’s always my biggest concern,” he said. “With good health, we can be a very competitive team that can beat anyone on any given day.”

Traditionally, Region 2 is one of the toughest in the nation and 2023 is no different.

“It’s the best Region in all of NJCAA D2. Every series is tough...but it’s also a lot of fun.

Bay said he plans to use a number of position players in 2023.

Handling the catching will be Mitchell Lucero and Nate Windle with Bradley Castillo in the mix after he recovers from shoulder surgery.

The first base and designated hitter duties will start with Cade Tucker and Enrique Alvarez, Jr. seeing duty at both. Second base will start 2023 with a Jorge Olive and Matt Stancliff platoon.

Cash Jay

Darian Duhon starts the season at third base with Cash Jay handling duties at shortstop. Elijah Laus provides depth at both spots.

Vying for playing time in the outfield are Preston Knott and Garrison Brandt in left field, Jaylin Bennett and Thomas Dunn in centerfield though Bennett is out this weekend with injury. Brandt and Kelly Yancy will man right field for the Mavs.

The current weekend rotation includes Graeme Rios and Eli Cartwright on Saturday and Brenden Kamnick and Caleb Lunnon on Sunday. Cade Fiveash will return to the rotation in mid-February.

The back end of the bullpen includes Windle, Rios, and Gage Norvell.

Mavs softball opens Feb. 14

The NOC Mavs’ Softball team opens the 2023 softball season Feb. 14 at Cowley County in coach Tori Green’s fourth season at NOC Tonkawa.

Green is excited for the 2023 season.

“Our 2023 Maverick softball team is diverse and versatile,” she said. “We have speed and power offensively that should keep opponents guessing. This group has a great opportunity to be successful offensively.”

Green said the strength of the team will be their team speed and experienced pitching.

“We have added a lot of team speed from our freshman,” she said. “I also think our sophomore pitchers will keep us in games and compete at a high level.”

Green added that the 2023 Mavericks are a young team and could have some growing pains.

“We are young,” she said. “If we can perform consistently at the level we are capable then we should be successful.”

Region 2 has improved over the years but Seminole remains the region’s top team.

“Our region is tough,” she said. “Seminole is always a power house but I feel like we should compete really well. If the girls compete and want it, we could be in the running for a conference championship.”

With the season still two weeks away, Green said she is experimenting with different lineups but is counting on returning sophomores Emma Enderud, Savannah Chenoweth, Teagan Honer, Haiden Huster, Alexandra Griffin, Jayden Looper, Kyla Storts, and Madalyn McNac. Green said to watch for freshmen Ryllie

Haiden Huster

Shipp, Hannah Endicott, and Morgan Meyer. In the circle, the Mavs return lefthander Emma Enderud and added transfer Lauren Bratcher as starters. Alayna Long will also make an impact in the circle as a freshman closer. Ashlyne Roblyer is a great offset for all three Maverick pitchers and will pitch in relief for the Mavs.
