INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Mission

Information Technology at Northern Oklahoma College covers many areas such as computing, media, interactive television, wireless, classroom instruction, and telephone services for each of our three locations. It's a complex and rapidly changing environment that demands constant review and innovation. Our goal is to continually enhance the resources and expertise of the college community in support of its role in maintaining an exceptional learning environment for Northern Oklahoma College students.

Vision

The Department of Information Technology strives to provide technology excellence that advances learning, instruction, support and student experiences in alignment with NOC's mission and goals. With these efforts we expect NOC to be recognized as an innovative and dynamic college that integrates technology throughout the institution by providing students, faculty, and staff with the information, tools, and services needed to accomplish its mission.

Core Values

Our core values drive and guide us as we serve Northern Oklahoma College. As staff of IT, we are committed to:

- Collaboration: We are dedicated to a constructive, team-oriented environment, gathering varied perspectives, sharing knowledge and building effective partnerships with key associates.
- Continuous Improvement: We strive for operational excellence through the on-going development of the staff and the organization as a whole.
- Innovation: We encourage creative and critical thinking in the development of technology services and solutions.
- People: We listen to, respect, and care for faculty, staff, students and one another, both professionally and personally.
- Service: We strive to provide excellent service by being consistent, reliable and accessible to all.
- Stewardship of Resources: We are dedicated to the efficient and effective use of resources. We accept the responsibility of the college's trust and are accountable for our actions.
