Jets men's basketball preview

By Jayce Daniels

A new season as came across for the Northern Oklahoma Jets men's basketball team and it comes with a lot of anticipation following the success of last year's 2022-23 team.

The Jets are 1-2 on the young season.

Coach Chris Gerber gave his thoughts on the upcoming season.

"It's a new season, but the goals remain the same every year, you must adjust to the team you have this year, but as far as the excitement for the team, it is always there. For preseason that's all you want, still got room to improve but getting better every day is all you want right now."

Gerber commented on the loss of last season's sophomores and this season's newcomers.

"That is the exciting part," he said. "It is a new team with new faces and new personalities, but trying to get all the personalities and individuals buy into a team, is always the challenge and the exciting part. We are all trying to find out ways to get everyone to buy in by the end of the season."

Gerber then stated his goals for the 2023-24 season.

"For this year's team, I think when you look at it from a basketball perspective, you want 20 wins or more. But for this team is continuing for guys to get better individually and as a team and watch opportunities for themselves happen."
