

Students attend Higher Ed Day at Capitol

Students and personnel from Oklahoma's state system institutions gathered at the state Capitol today to demonstrate the value and importance of higher education in the state.

Speakers included Governor Kevin Stitt, Speaker Charles McCall, Sen. Adam Pugh, Rep. Mark McBride, State Regents chair Jack Sherry, and Chancellor Allison D. Garrett.

"Students, faculty and staff from Oklahoma's public colleges and universities came together today at our State Capitol to highlight the value of a college degree," said Garrett. "Over half of the top 100 occupations identified as critical for our state require an associate degree or higher, including the top 29 highest paying jobs. Investing in higher education drives economic opportunity for individual Oklahomans and strengthens the workforce pipeline for our vibrant business community."

Three students also spoke at the event. Blake Janssen, Redlands Community College; Asa Robbins, Northeastern State University; and Dante Specht, Oklahoma City Community College, shared how pursuing higher education at Oklahoma's public college and universities has positively impacted their lives.

Higher Ed Day

During the program, the following recipients of the Distinguished Service Award for Higher Education were recognized for their steadfast leadership and support of public higher education in the 2023 legislative session: Sen. Chuck Hall, Sen. Brent Howard, former Sen. John Michael Montgomery, Sen. Adam Pugh, Sen. Dave Rader, Sen. Ally Seifried, Sen. Roger Thompson, Rep. Steve Bashore, Rep. Kylie Hilbert, former Rep. Ryan Martinez, Rep. Anthony Moore, Rep. Cyndi Munson, Rep. Kevin Wallace, Mike Jackson, former Director, Legislative Office of Fiscal Transparency

“These legislative leaders are dedicated to advancing Oklahoma’s higher education system and the students we serve,” said State Regents Chair Jack Sherry. “We value our collaborative relationships with legislators and deeply appreciate their investment in our shared goal to meet current and future workforce needs and help individual Oklahomans achieve their dreams.”

The State Regents are requesting $9.5 million for FY25 to fund the Inspired to Teach program and expand concurrent enrollment. Public higher education’s budget request also includes strategic investments that align with Oklahoma’s projected workforce demand in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) and healthcare and focus on increasing adult degree completion. The State Regents seek $41.5 million for critical workforce development initiatives, including funds to increase enrollment and graduation in STEM disciplines, expand nursing education program and medical residency capacity to address the state’s shortage of nurses and doctors, and provide additional scholarships for adult students nearing completion of a college degree or pursuing an industry-recognized micro-credential or certificate.

The State Regents also seek $71.4 million in FY25 to fund performance-based institutional allocations to meet operational needs, address rising risk management costs, strengthen college access and academic success services for students, and fund strategic collaborations and shared services to drive long-term efficiencies across the state system. The budget request includes one-time capital funding for deferred maintenance and system and structure upgrades to enhance campus safety and cybersecurity.

Another priority for the State Regents in the current legislative session is refining Oklahoma’s Promise to reduce administrative barriers to scholarship access and participation. Strategies may include streamlining high school course requirements and developing an appeal process to assist students facing unique circumstances to ensure no qualified student is excluded.

Recognized by the Southern Regional Education Board as one of the top promise scholarship programs in the nation, Oklahoma’s Promise is considered a national model that combines emphases on academic preparation and financial support for college. More than 105,000 students have earned college tuition scholarships through Oklahoma’s Promise since the program’s inception. Jets Softball starts Friday in Texas

The NOC Enid Jets Softball team opens the season Friday at a tournament in Denison, Texas.

NOC Enid will play four games in two days for new head coach Steven Kissel.

"We have the talent to have a good season," Kissel said. "They have bought in to what I have asked them to, great team chemistry and they work hard."

Kissel discussed what he sees as the strengths of the Jets team.

"The main strength is our returners who have taken ownership of this program and what we want to do," he said. "We have several positions that are exceptional."

Kissel's biggest concern is a lack of depth.

"We have to avoid injury," he said.

Region 2 is always challenging and Kissel sees a lot of parity in the league.

"I know the region is strong as it is every year of course everyone refers to Seminole as the team to beat but I think every team has an opportunity to win every day," he said.

The everyday line-up will be Taryn Rhodes (C), Adie White and Jaidyn Burrell (1B), Tylie Ligons (2B), Yaya Pellett (3B), Sidney Redmon (SS), and Sierra Woods, Megan Fulz, and Emily Gregory (OF) with Jenna Thomas pushing for time.

On the mound, the Jets have five starters including Aly Nash, the leader of the staff according to Kissel.

Lakelynn Thompson, Aubrey Williams, Karis Stewart, and Audra Williams complete the Jets' staff.

"They are all very good pitchers and we will rely on all of them to step up and take charge of the circle when called on," he said.

Enid hosts Northern Encounter

Northern Oklahoma College Enid is hosting a Northern Encounter recruiting event on Wednesday, Feb. 14, from 9 a.m. – 11 a.m. inside Montgomery Hall on the NOC Enid Campus.

There will be door prizes, free SWAG, campus tour, meetings with faculty/staff, and a drawing for tuition waivers.

According to Vice President for Enid Jeremy Hise, this event will be student-centered with prospective students hearing from NOC Enid students as well as faculty, staff, and administrators.

Prospective students will rotate among a number of locations on the Enid campus including the Mabee Center, Bivins Chapel, Mackie Planetarium, Nursing Skills Lab, and the Gantz Center.

They will learn about academic options, scholarships, financial aid, student employment, extra-curricular activities, tutoring, and residential housing.

Registration is from 8:45 a.m. – 9 a.m. with the event ending at 11 a.m. Students can register for Northern Encounter at <https://www.noc.edu/students/future-students/>.

Mavs Softball opens Monday

The NOC Mavs Softball Team opens the season Tuesday, Feb. 12, on the road at Southern Nazarene JV.

Under coach Tori Green, the Mavs will be a young team.

“Our team is going to be young and have a lot of new faces on the field,” Green said. “Our returning sophomores have provided great leadership and direction to be successful. I think we will find success this season in doing the small things correctly and utilizing our strengths to our advantage. I look forward to seeing these girls compete at a high level and grow this year.”

Green said she likes the athleticism of this year’s squad.

“Our biggest strength this year will be utilizing our speed to take bases,” he said. “I think our outfield play will help set us apart in big moments.”

The biggest hurdle of the Mavs is their youth and the injury bug.

“We are young in the circle and lost quite a few girls to injury,” she said.

Seminole is always a favorite in Region 2 but Green has some other teams she likes.

“Region play will be tough,” she said. “Seminole is strong as usual, but Eastern is returning a strong line up and Rose is always a tough competitor.”

The everyday lineup includes Payton St. Andrews (C), Hannah Endicott (1B), Mikayla Arnold (2B), Elyssa Kaniatobe (SS), Allison McGowan (3B) with Abby Farris and Kerik Brown seeing action on the corners. The outfield will consist of Fayth Hoover, Ryllie Shipp, and Maggie Glasgow with Jaci Johnson seeing time in the outfield and as the Mavs main pinch runner.

In the circle, Jordan Johnson and Ashlyne Roblyer will start with Shiloh Roberson and Morgan Robison working in relief.

NOC Enid welcomed Leadership Enid to campus last week providing a tour of the campus.
