Dr. Elliot Engel to speak at Fall Lectureship

Famed author Dr. Eliot Engel reveals the life of L. Frank Baum and the reasons for the enduring and endearing fame of his "Wonderful Wizard of Oz," at Northern Oklahoma College on Tuesday, Oct. 22, as part of the Fall 2024 Renfro Endowed Lectureship Program.

Using anecdotes, analysis, and large doses of humor, Professor Engel brings to life this most fascinating of fairy-tale writers.

The event is sponsored by the Carl and Brenda Renfro/Renfro Endowed Lectureship Program, Charles and Virginia Starks, and Northern Oklahoma College/NOC Foundation. The dinner will be held at the Renfro Center starting at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets will be available Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 9 a.m.

Originally from Indianapolis, Indiana, Dr. Elliot Engel now lives in Raleigh, North Carolina, where he has taught at the University of North Carolina, North Carolina State University, and Duke University. He earned his M.A. and Ph.D. as a Woodrow Wilson Fellow at UCLA. While at UCLA he won that university's Outstanding Teacher Award.

Dr. Engel has written ten books published in England, Japan, Turkey, and the United States. His mini-lecture series on Charles Dickens ran on PBS television stations around the country. His articles have appeared in numerous newspapers and national magazines including Newsweek. He has lectured throughout the United States and on all the continents including Antarctica. Four plays which he has written have been produced during the last ten years. In 2009, he was inducted into the Royal Society of Arts in England for his academic work and service in promoting Charles Dickens.

For his scholarship and teaching, Dr. Engel has received North Carolina's Adult Education Award, North Carolina State's Alumni Professorship, and the Victorian Society's Award of Merit. Most recently, he was named Tar Heel of the Week for his thirty years of delivering public programs in the humanities and sponsoring state and national literary contests for high school students.

Since 1980, Dr. Engel has been President of the Dickens Fellowship of North Carolina, the largest branch of this worldwide network of clubs. The sales of Dr. Engel's books, CDs, and DVDs have raised funds for The Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital which Dickens helped found in London in 1852.

Professor Engel continues to teach outside the classroom and give literary and historical programs throughout the world. He also presents assemblies at elementary, middle, and high schools, and his educational CDs & DVDs are used in classrooms around the country. In his spare time, he likes to imagine all the impressive hobbies and leisure pursuits he could mention here --- if he ever actually would find enough spare time to indulge in them.

A reserved table with seating for eight may be purchased for $500, which includes dinner in the Renfro Center and Engel's lecture. Individual tickets are on sale for $25 each.

Seats are available at no charge for the lecture which will be livestreamed into the Renfro Center classrooms at NOC.

Tickets may be purchased by credit card by calling 580-628-6214 or in person at the NOC Development Office, Vineyard Library-Administration Building, NOC Tonkawa, starting Sept. 24.

Former Oklahoma State Regent for Higher Education Carl Renfro established the Renfro Endowed Lectureship Program with a gift in 2006 to provide support for cultivating and enhancing the cultural and community enrichment offerings to northern Oklahoma on the Tonkawa campus and in the Ponca City area.

Three NOC preengineering students who were part of NOC’s Rocket Team last spring toured the NASA facility in Cape Canaveral, Florida in early September.

NOC students tour NASA facility

Northern Oklahoma College pre-engineering students earned a trip to the Kennedy Space Center in Cape Canaveral, Florida, in early September.

Students earned the trip by winning the Moon Division of First Nations Launch Competition in April 2024 in Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

According to Dr. Frankie Wood-Black, Division Chair for Pre-Engineering, Physical Science, and Process Technology, students attending were Grant Biggers, Andrew Lewis, and Raven Bruce.

“This trip was the result of the team’s great efforts this past year. The students were able to see things that the average person couldn’t. It was a wonderful experience.” Dr. Wood-Black said. “And, what makes it really special is that our team was joined by the Mars Challenge winners from MIT.”

NOC President Diana Watkins added, “I’m so proud of and grateful for the work Dr. Wood-Black does with our NOC students. All of us at NOC enjoyed watching them reap the benefits of the extensive preparation they did for the First Nations Launch Competition as we followed their experience at Kennedy Space Center on social media.”

Tours included the Vehicle Assembly Building, the Launch Bunker for Mercury and Gemini missions, the site of the Apollo I and VII missions, the runway where the shuttles landed – with the mark for the last landing of the At-

The group also toured the hanger where the Columbia shuttle parts were put together after the Feb. 3, 2004 accident.

They also toured the Blue Origin facility, a private space exploration facility founded by Jeff Bezos with a vision of millions of people living and working in space for the benefit of Earth. Blue Origin envisions a time when people can tap into the limitless resources of space and enable the movement of damaging industries into space to preserve Earth, humanity's blue origin.

The students also viewed a launch of Space X Falcon 9 from the space center.

The Group was Joined by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) who won the Mars Competition.

Stamp Out Starvation set for Sunday

Northern Oklahoma College Tonkawa students have the opportunity to participate in the Stamp Out Starvation program on Sept. 15 at the First United Methodist Church Family Center in Tonkawa.

The project is from noon – 3 p.m. Lunch will be provided.

Stamp Out Starvation Director Monte Stewart will provide a mission update during the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

Students will help package meals that are shipped all across the world.

FNB donates wrestling mats

Northern Oklahoma College opens the 2024-25 inaugural wrestling season with the Red and Black Scrimmage set for Oct. 24 at 5 p.m.

As NOC men and women wrestlers prepare for the upcoming season, they will practice on two new mats donated by First National Bank of Oklahoma.

NOC President Diana Watkins thanked the bank for their support.

“With their contributions of time and financial support, First National Bank has been instrumental in the return of men’s wrestling and the establishment of women’s wrestling at NOC,” Watkins said. “Having grown up in a wrestling community myself, I’m excited to offer an opportunity to students in our service area to compete at the college level in a sport they love while continuing their education. This simply would not have been possible without generous donor support.”

FNB Executive Chairman Pat Rooney added, “First National is excited and enthused to be part of returning the legacy wrestling program to Northern Oklahoma College. Wrestling is ingrained in our state’s culture and having a successful program allows our students to be a part of that.”

The men’s program has been re-established after a 30-year absence while the women’s program is new for NOC.

“We couldn’t have done this without the support of FNB,” said men’s wrestling coach Bryan Kenney. “Helping to support a start-up program is a huge investment of resources, time, and vision for everyone involved. Thank you is not enough for everything that FNB has done for our wrestling program.”

The re-establishment of the men’s program and establishment of the women’s program has been in the works for a number of years with the NOC Foundation starting a fund-raising campaign in the summer of 2023.
